Description of Bleapp

With bleapp home you can record your experience: take notes, add photos and videos, share your thoughts and decide your next move. bleapp home enhances your home buying experience in a uniquely personal way. Your home tours will never be the same.

What if you had a product that could help sell your properties? What if that product was unique, simple yet sophisticated, and easy to use? What if it could turn your home tours into an interactive tool for your prospects to engage in the home buying process? Well then you would have bleapp home, your personal home tour companion. bleapp home is a simple, cost effective way to set yourself and your properties apart from the rest of the crowd.

Simply purchase a bleapp home kit and download the app. The kit contains several bleapps for you to strategically place around your home tour. They are small enough to be put anywhere and will work even when hidden from sight. This is your opportunity to engage with all of your potential buyers on a personal level and give them the valuable information that will help you sell your next listing.

Your listing may have a specific feature that you wish all of your potential buyers could experience while inside the home. There may be a wonderful fireplace you wish could be shown during the winter with a crackling fire. When a potential buyer walks within range of the fireplace their phone can automatically show them a picture or video of the fireplace in use.
